

RADIO TELESCOPE, with 250-ft., biggest-in-the-world rotating antenna, will enable British to map stars whose light cannot be seen.

Construction of Manchester University's great gadget will begin this summer, and government will foot half of the $940,800 bill.

British Information Services

No story in text.

Page 19