Dear Dr. Reber:

With your letter of July twenty-sixth to Hap in hand, I have been proceeding to get out checks in the respective sums of $3000 and $1500 as you have requested. The latter is easy. The former, according to Chase National Bank advice, would be inadvisable. They suggest we buy a letter of credit to your name on a bank located at whatever town or city you suggest. If this procedure is agreeable to you, please let me know your preference; some place in Tasmania, Sidney or whatever.

Hap is on vacation. I imagine that so many details of arrangement must be handled at the last minute that I have gone forward with the matter of funds on the assumption that early satisfaction on this matter may serve to expedite or at least not impede solution of others.

We are sorry to learn that results at the Kole Kole location are so inconclusive, or rather negative. Hopefully, the observations you plan at higher frequency ranges may contribute something of higher interest. Certainly the Australian venture has promise.

We will look forward to reprints of the papers based on the data you have collected during the past year or so--both the astronomy and the meteorology papers. We look forward to your instructions or agreement in re the $3000 check. I'll hold the Hogg letter for Hap to see.

Regards.

Sincerely,

Alfred Kelleher
