Dear Bert:

It seems that my brother Schuyler has taken off for Louisville in a great rush without making an accounting to me on quite a number of small objects which he had custody. Also I learn that the house and garage at 212 W. Seminary Ave. merely are to be moved without details as to where, who, when, how, etc.

Because of this vagueness I have decided to cancel the power of attorney which you now have. I realize that all of a sudden the small plot of land on Seminary avenue seems to have become worth a huge sum. However, I have no need of the money and do not intend to turn a handspring to get it. From my viewpoint here, it seems best to put the whole affair on ice until I can get back in six or eight months and see what circumstances are first hand.

In the mean time, I expect that Schuyler is getting his responsibilities in order and when we reach a satisfactory conclusion, then the negotiations with IBT may procede. It is unfortunate that I have to write this letter but it is better for my state of mind to know what is going to happen before hand than afterwards.

Best regards,
