Dear Schuyler:

This is the first chance I've had to get off a note. As you know this winter was a bad one in Europe and transport was all confused. I spent a week each in Manchester & Leiden. It was pleasant to see what these people are doing, but unfortunately nothing particularly along my present interests.

The heat & humidity here are fantastic. We leave early tomorrow morning. I'll be glad to get back to Hobart and a white mans country in a temperate region.

By this time, I hope you have made up your mind on what you will be doing ~~for~~ and are getting on with the ~~job~~ new job. Then much of the anxiety relating to an uncertain future will be relieved.

Please remember me to Jean and the small fry.

Best regards,

Grote

P.S. Hampri has this place beat all hollow.
