

SOUTHERN APPALACHIAN BOTANICAL CLUB
West Virginia University
Morgantown, West Virginia

July 14, 1930

Dear Fellow Botanist:

One of our members, Frank Kusinko, at the West Virginia University Herbarium is working on the genus Solidago (goldenrod). We would like to have specimens of all the species in this genus from all counties in West Virginia. They can be more correctly identified when the specimen is complete, especially with basal leaves and underground parts attached. All members in this general region are asked to cooperate and send the specimens to:

The Herbarium

Morgantown, West Virginia

Material from the following counties of West Virginia is especially lacking: Wood, Ritchie, Gilmer, Roane, Putnam, Boone, Mingo, McDowell, Jefferson, and Morgan.

Sincerely,

Elizabeth Ann Bartholomew
Secretary

P. S. Should you come across Eidens (spanish needle), add it to your collection. We are getting ready to make our fourth number of the FLORA OF WEST VIRGINIA which will include the composites.

Another student is working on Helleborus. You might collect that genus too.
