Dear Aunt Pearl:

Thank you for your note of a few days ago. I am very pleased to hear from you and your end of the relationship.

As you probably know, I have found a sponsor for my astronomical radio experiments in the form of Uncle Sam. Consequently I am working at these experiments full time now and living in Washington. Currently, I occupy a very small part of the above establishment which is about two blocks from my office at the Bureau of Standards.

A popular account of this work appears in the January 5th issue of Time Magazine; also in the January issue of Popular Science. These should be on the news stands very soon.

My work requires that I travel from time to time, mostly up and down the eastern seaboard. However if I should go on a trip to the pacific coast I will certainly make it a point to see you in Salem.

My very best wishes for a prosperous New Year, may they be repeated many times.
