Dear Mr. Simpson:

The Rember Infra Lyne amplifier arrived here yesterday in good shape. Thanks a lot. Now all I need is three UX199 tubes to make it operate. I secured a copy of the August 1926 issue of Radio from a fellow in Texas who deals in old Magazines. He advertised in Ham Trader. From the circuit diagram I deduce that the Rember amplifier has inverse feed back to make it stable. The author doesn't call it such but it seems to be there.

I'd like to secure some other old battery radios such as Enta, Acme, Radiola, Grube, etc. also tubes like WD11 #12, 199, 200, 201, 202, etc. If you hear of anything, please let me know.
