Dear Grote:

Finally back at the store and beginning to dig out from under the accumulated papers that I found waiting on my desk. I was more than glad the other day to find my lens cap poised on top of the pile; thanks for shipping it on to me.

Again, many thanks for a most pleasant and interesting two days in Tasmania. I enjoyed every minute of it, particularly the Egg Drop soup, Scotch and Shrimp Omelet! As you can imagine, Hap and the others here were most interested to hear what I had to say about the visit, and I hope I haven't misled them too badly in some of my recounting of your work and findings to date. Hap was particularly interested in your venture into the cosmic ray area. If I can find the reference to spark chambers developed for use on accelerators I will send it along to you.

Meanwhile, I think you will enjoy the enclosed article from the March 1966 issue of Scientific American on "The Prehistory of the Australian Aborigine".

Sincerely,

J. W. Hinkley
