Dear Harold:

A few days ago I arrived back here after a fine trip. On the way I stopped to see some of the fellows in the San Francisco area and Mr. Warren Green in Spokane. Different fellows have or specialise in different things. However I have yet to see a better collection of early ship and broadcast receivers than yours. I was particularly impressed with the fine condition of many units.

Some time ago I secured a deForest receiver rather similar to yours but in a different case, or remains thereof. It has some of those small black plug-in transformers. Unfortunately ~~there is no instructions about which to use where for what~~ different wavelengths. I wonder if you would look inside your set and copy out the list telling which numbered transformers to use where for what wavelength.

Some years ago I was working out in Hawaii. This is the operation which I finally closed up last month. Enclosed are three reprints which give some idea of my efforts out there.

Thanks again for the pleasant afternoon.
