Dear Grote:

'Tis the season to be jolly, and we may even have a white Christmas if this stuff doesn't melt completely while acquiring a deep gray coating.

I've been delinquent on correspondence as usual and am particularly belated in getting off a note to wish you the best for the holiday season and the coming year. I continue to entertain improbable hopes that I will get there before you leave. So don't hurry.

As you are undoubtedly familiar with a new publication entitled "Science Journal," I resisted the temptation to clip and send you a fairly elaborate spread on McCusker's 250-square kilometer cosmic ray set-up in New South Wales. It seems quite interesting although I haven't read it in detail.

Hope to hear from you before too long. The very best of best wishes.

Sincerely,

Charles H. Schauer

P.S. Happy New Year! I'll get the figures for Internal Revenue off to you in about two weeks.
